

This topographic map of the Rana region in Norway shows the Rana Municipality boundary in red and the Rana District boundary in blue. The map includes contour lines, place names, and a scale bar. The Rana Municipality boundary is a large, irregular shape covering most of the central and eastern parts of the map. The Rana District boundary is a smaller, more irregular shape located within the Rana Municipality, covering the central and western parts of the municipality. The map shows the Rana River (Ranavassan) flowing through the region, and the Rana Fjord (Ranafjorden) to the west. The map also shows the Rana District (Rana distrikt) and the Rana Municipality (Rana kommune).

Raud skravur er eksisterande verneområde. Lilla avgrensing merker utvida forslag om frivillig vern av skog.
